The locating of the water mains and surface lines for the city waterworks is being pushed to completion by City Engineer R. P. Van Wageningen. The new line will effect a considerable saving in time in reaching the post.

CHOKED WOMAN FOR REFUSING RENT OF ROOM

MRS. GENEVA M. FRYER CAUSES ARREST OF JOE PETERSON ON ABOVE CHARGE

RELEASED ON BOND OF $1000

SECOND TIME SAME TROUBLE BETWEEN PARTIES HAS BEEN REPORTED TO POLICE

Charged with having attacked and threatened to kill Mrs. Geneva M. Fryer, at a lodging house owned by her in the north end of town, Joe Peterson, a carpenter, is at liberty under bonds of $1,000, waiting an examination tomorrow.

According to Mrs. Fryer, Peterson became angered at her because she would not give him a room, threw her down, choked her and threatened to kill her.

From what has been learned by the officers, Peterson formerly roomed at one of the two houses owned by Mrs. Fryer. Several months ago he raised a disturbance at the place and Mrs. Fryer asked to have him placed under bonds to keep the peace. He agreed to leave the house for good and seemed quite penitent and Mrs. Fryer withdrew the complaint.

Peterson did not molest his former landlady for some time, but a few days ago he returned and demanded that he be given a room.

Fearing that he would cause trouble, Mrs. Fryer demurred. Peterson not only then demanded that he be given a room but that the landlady eject another tenant from the room he had formerly occupied and allow him to come back.

Mrs. Fryer declined, and it is then that he is said to have thrown her down, choked her and threatened to kill her.

Peterson was placed under arrest, but secured his liberty on bonds of $1,000 with W. W. Brookner and Charles J. Asche acting as sureties.

He was to have had an examination before Judge Hinson Thomas yesterday, but the matter was continued until tomorrow at the request of Attorneys Jones & Flannigan, who represent him.

Mrs. Fryer, who bears an excellent reputation, claims that she kept out of the courts as long as possible with the affair, to avoid unpleasant notoriety, but that she was forced to apply for a peace bond for Peterson, to protect herself.

DOPE FIEND ADMITS ROBBING MAUREL HOTEL

CONFESSES TO OTHER DEPREDATIONS UNSURPASSED FOR BOLDNESS

After an exciting chase, City Marshal Bob Anderson arrested James Olmstead, a one-eyed dope fiend, yesterday, on the charge of having burglarized a room in the Maurel hotel, Monday morning.

The stolen articles, a blanket and a sofa pillow, were found in possession of Olmstead.

When questioned by Anderson, the drug fiend not only admitted his theft but confessed to other depredations which he had committed in order to secure cocaine, without which he soon became almost a raving maniac.

But what surprised Anderson more than anything else was the admission that Olmstead had entered the office of the city marshal and stolen an electric flash light. He told where he had disposed of the light and it was later recovered.

Olmstead seems to have a fondness for canned goods, as he told Anderson that he had broken into the basement of a private residence a short time ago and secured several cans of preserves.

Olmstead was arraigned in Judge Hinson Thomas' court yesterday but was granted a continuance until today for his examination.
